BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE

A. Greenwood, Bryton House, Fleet St., London, Eng.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1916.

Alderman Wilson has made clear that if the city is struck for that seventy thousand dollars per year for the next thirty years by the Hydro company it is not going to be his fault.

British opinion, it is said, insists that acts of reprisal for Kultur raids must be purely military objective. All right, if the distinction is insisted upon, but for goodness' sake let them start.

With wheat prices up by shipment stopping the grain with a full grain, and a vast quarter section are looking at each other and wondering what to do when spring comes.

Inquiry into the operations of the steel committee is referred on the ground that the Border Government is right in doing in 1916 what the Laurier Government was wrong in doing in 1901.

Mr. Laurier says he prefers German civilization to British liberty as it is found in Canada. Well he is doing what can be to replace the British liberty he dislikes and abhides with the Kultur he prefers and would not be allowed to insult.

The generous contributions pouring into the Patriotic fund afford evidence that Canadian people are entirely willing to provide property, money and efforts of men and women, and also for the unemployed soldiers themselves when they return from the front. The failure to pay our soldiers wages which would remove the necessity of a general strike, and the failure to provide adequate pensions for the families of soldiers who may be killed or who may return crippled cannot be accredited to any unwillingness on the part of Canadian people. It is done fairly by the men who are fighting for them. If there is in Canada a minority who are not willing to do so it is a small minority, and its members are not to be blamed for any who are. The burden should be upon the common burden should be upon more generous and patriotic citizens. The cost of the war should be paid out of the national treasury.

The Edmonton city council is specifically debonair by the city charter from disposing of, without a two-third vote of the burgesses, any "right, authority or power, absolute or otherwise, to construct, maintain or operate, within the city, in, under, upon, or through any highway, street, lane, public square, public place, public water under, or the incorporation of the city, any polls, rails, tracks, pipes, conduits, buildings, erections or structures or other things for the purpose of bridges, railways, tramways, or for the purpose of conducting steam, heat, water, gas, oil, gas, water, steam, or any property, substance or product capable of being transported, transmitted or conveyed for the supply of water, heat, power, gas, oil, steam, or telegraphic or other services." Is it a reasonable assumption that the Legislature which forbade the city council without the consent of the burgesses to grant any man the privilege to run a horse race, or any other race, or to start from a racing factory to another, or similar trivial privilege, had it in contemplation that the city council should be free to tie the city up to a 30-year power agreement, good, bad or indifferent, without the consent of the burgesses?

Nobody would suspect that this committee was so exclusively Scotch until the big pipes go down Jasper Avenue.

The wastage of British money by the Canadian shell committee was only paralleled by the waste of Canada's opportunity at the hands of the same institution.

When they get themselves and their street railway out of the deluge Victoria people will no doubt start on the job of examining every possible provision and that naturally puts every citizen of these races under suspicion.

The Montreal Mail says "Prince of Erik of Denmark who is to be the King of Canada" and that it is deemed necessary to intern all people of German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian descent who are residents of Canada but are not Canadian citizens, the demand for the safety of every man not lie with the Canadian parliament or people but with those who have directed against Canada and its allies a campaign of criminal outrage that demands every possible provision for safety and that naturally puts every citizen of these races under suspicion.

The Montreal Mail says "Prince of Erik of Denmark who is to be the King of Canada" and that it is deemed necessary to see Mr. F. B. Carvel about raising hay." Also, it may be suggested, Hon. Martin Burrell about how to raise the wheat.

The war grader has no party. He will line up with whichever side will let him grab the most. Why should either political party allow itself to be lined up to prevent his exposure and punishment and the stoppage of his operations?

Just possible that if the heads of Canada's official loyalists are as full of wholesale suspicion as the heads of German agents are full ofesimal testing devices, Canadian munition factories would be going skyward these days in pillars of smoke.

It is suggested that the Minister of War should be investigating Hon. Colclough. So far no walls of disappointment have been heard from parties anxious to receive that widely bestowed prefix. In fact we seem to have about equal to the place where to not be the Honorary Colclough is considered a distinction.

The Montreal Gazette says "The day is past when a man who 'sells' his soul in a fight for his country can call himself a knight for himself when his usefulness is over." Not in this country in a long way, where totally disabled soldiers are left to struggle through life on a pittance of $20 per month.

The dog is a very useful and estimable animal in his own place. And his place is a large one. But the street of a city is not part of his place. The dog in a Canadian community would be safer in a parental life freed from a good deal of worry if the hide of about three battalions of good-for-nothing mongrels were nailed to the fence.

The Red Cross Society is making an appeal for funds throughout the province; the 22th of this month being set apart as a special "Red Cross Day." It is to be hoped and expected that the appeal will be successful. The "customary generosity" of Albertans people and in keeping with their circumstances. The Red Cross organization is doing a magnificent work, though not as clearly appreciated as it might be. It is very heartily and generally appreciated. That so worthy a cause should not meet with the response it deserves from the people of Alberta is unthinkable.

Another Ontario munition factory went up in smoke on Saturday. Isn't it about time some official luminary got out a proclamation solemnly assuring the public that these results are not to be expected.

Any property, substance or product capable of being transported, transmitted or conveyed for the supply of water, heat, power, gas, oil, steam, or telegraphic or other services.

For there has been no wholesale interment of alien residents in Canada, and races. Only those have been put in detention camps who have been at large, considered a menace to the safety of the country or to peace and order. The probability that they would be destroyed as an insubordinate in the House must raise the question of the advisability of interning all residents of enemy races forthwith. It is of course a hard task to determine which of these people to be deprived of their liberties because of crimes committed by members of their race. But this is a time of war, and a time when there is being waged against Canada a sort of warfare that makes the extreme prevention the only course consistent with the spirit of the times. If in the judgment of the minister of defence it is deemed necessary to intern all people of German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian descent who are residents of Canada but are not Canadian citizens, the demand for the safety of every man not lie with the Canadian parliament or people but with those who have directed against Canada and its allies a campaign of criminal outrage that demands every possible provision for safety and that naturally puts every citizen of these races under suspicion.

Sir Robert Borden asked for the extension of the life of Parliament on two grounds. First, that it is not desirable to have during war time the turmoil and disturbance of a general election. Second, that is is necessary to have time to allow the government to concentrate their attention to the carrying out of our military operations. On the strength of these two representations the opposition agreed to extend the life of Parliament by one month.

It is suggested that Sir Robert Borden should be allowed to extend the life of Parliament by one month to give him time to concentrate his attention to the exclusion of politics. First, that there will be no general election until the fall of 1917. Second, that the government should be allowed to concentrate their attention to the exclusion of politics. This pledge is not merely to the group of members who happen to sit on the other side of the House of Commons, but to the House of Commons as a whole.

TO EFFECT SAVING OF $17,000 TO CITY

By eliminating the sewer main-
tance branch of the engineering department, the city will save
the street and scavenging department, and the mayor has effected a means of saving over $17,000 annually to the city. Given to the city engineer of the work, and will assist one of the city's best engineers in the selection of a man to do the work.

The latter of which has been
contemplated for some time last year
was put into effect yesterday after
the presentation of a report of proposals to Commissioner Harrison.

The present cost of operating the sewer maintenance department is $17,000, and it is estimated the same work will be done at $10,000 annually.

At the Macdonald last night a new tender was tendered by the Metropolitan Sewerage Co. for the work of the sewer main-
tance branch.

At the present time, when
reports are in on private property
the employees of the street maintenance department are not to be charged up to property owner by the department. The inspection is not a trouble he will immediately investigate the condition of the sewer maintance branch. If the trouble arises
the other hand, if the trouble arises
in the property of the city, it will be the work and charge it to the city.

Mr. Evans, formerly of the sewer
main-branch, is appointed
as plant and inspector of sewers, at a salary of $1,000 a month, and will be to look after the operation of the plant and make a periodical inspection of all sewers.
